(a) World model learning: predict the brain state transition when external intervention applied

